RECESS IN VICE CRUSADE.

NO INDICTMENTS YET BY THE MARCH GRAND JURY.

They Have Been Considering Several and Have the Drafts Rendy-Talk of Re-corder Goff Prolonging the March Term and Continuing the March Grand Jury.

The crusade against vice in this city, which was started by the District Attorney's office, is now in the hands of the Grand Jury. and as that body did not sit yesterday and will not sit until to-morrow there were no new developments. The rumors of indictments against high-up police officials continued to be circulated, but the fact of the matter is that no indictments have been found, although there seems to be little doubt that the Grand Jury has been considering several. It was pretty generally believed yesterday that the Grand Jury will hand down several indictments on Monday, but the only name mentioned is that of Capt. Thomas of the Tenderloin, to whose alleged neglect of duty the District Attorney called the attention of the Grand Jury several days ago. As stated in THE Bun yesterday, three indictments against Capt. Thomas were considered by the Grand Jury on Friday, but although the indictments were drawn up the signature of the foreman of the Grand Jury was not affixed to them, and until it is they are not indictments. Rumors were persistently circulated again yesterday that Chief Devery and at least one inspector are to be indicted. When Assistant District Attorney McIntyre, who does all the talking for Col. Gardiner nowadays, was questioned about this yesterday he said:

When an indictment is found by the Grand Jury it must be returned at once in court. The fact that no indictment was returned to court on Friday shows that none was found. I have seen in the newspapers that certain police officials have been indicted. This is entirely without foundation. No police officials have been indicted. What the Grand Jury intends to do I do not know. The stories of indictments came. I believe, from the fact that blank indictments have been fliled out with the names of men whose cases are under consideration. This is the usual course, but until the foreman of the Grand Jury signs these blank indict. ments they are not indictments at all. I can only say that the Grand Jury has been con-sidering the vice question. What it will do on the evidence that has been presented to it I do sidering the vice question. What it will do on the evidence that has been presented to it I do not know."

There was some talk yesterday of Recorder Goff continuing the term of the present Grand Jury into April, owing to the pressure of business now before it. If this is done the present Grand Jury will become a Special Grand Jury. It will have to be continued as a part of the Court of General Sessions, Part I, where Recorder Goff is now sitting, and which he has, it is said, the legal right to continue into April. The Recorder declined to saw what he intended to do. Judge Warren W. Foster will sit in Part I, in April with the April Grand Jury.

A facsimile of what purports to be a "blackmail blank" was printed in one of yesterday morning's papers. This blank, it's alleged, is one that is filled out at regular intervals and returned to Chief Devery by his subordinates, showing the amount of "protection" money collected. The Chief would not be interviewed on the subject yesterday, and the only member of the Police Board who would talk was Commissioner Abell, who said:

"These are the regular forms of daily report

missioner Abell, who said:

"These are the regular forms of daily report blanks upon which the captains make daily returns to the Chief. They are the same forms which have been in use for many years but none of them is a blackmail blank. If we should ever receive evidence that any other blank is in use we would act promptly. The whole thing is simply the same old cry of blackmail which has been heard for thirty years and is entirely without foundation."

ARRESTED FOR RUNNING A HAND-BOOK.

Police Capt. Thomas met George Considine, the sporting man yesteriay afternoon in front of the saloon at $60 Sixth avenue, which Considine formerly owned, and told him that he understood he was running a hand-book on the races in the saloon. Considine, before the 1900 rooms closed, ran a room over the saloon. See told Thomas that he was not backing or running a hand-book and he defled the police to prove that he was.

Fifteen minutes later one of Thomas's detectives entered the saloon and in going out the rear entrance saw a man in the hall receive two bets and record them. The detective arrested the man who was taking the money and locked him up in the West Thirtieth street station. He said he was Max Capter of 245 West Thirty-seventh street. Capt. Thomas says the man is employed by Considine. ARBESTED FOR RUNNING A HAND-BOOK.

Deputy Chief McLauchlin also gave explicit instructions in regard to Sunday concerts. The prohibition of the music, he said, did not apply to respectable cabs, like the Arion and Saengerbund, in which no admission is charged. A cluic could give a sacred concert if the only persons admitted were their guests or their own members. The places where Sunday concerts are given at Coney Island were in a sense places of public resort and these wont be stopped.

Queen Lavinia Says She Gave Her Note in

Further evidence in the case of Lavinia H. Van Westervelt Dempsey, Queen of the Holland Dames, who is charged with converting $750 belonging to Robert Troup, was heard by Magistrate Brann in the Centre street police court yesterday morning. Queen Lavinia testifled as to the engagement of Robert Troup as Treasurer of her company, "The Patriot Spy," and his deposit of $750 security for the faithful performance of his duties. The money, she eaid, was deposited in a bank by the manager. Charles Hoerlein. She said that she had given the complainant, Mr. Troup, her note for one the complainant, Mr. Troup, her note for one month for $750 with interest from the time that she received the money from him, and that she considered that she had thereby discharged her objection to him. The note, she said, became due three days ago, but had not been presented for payment. On cross-examination, J. J. Russeil, counsel for the plaintiff, attempted to attack the character of the witness and to show that she was in the habit of leaving unpaid bills, but the line of questioning was stopped by the Magistrate.

PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN UNITY.

Splendid Work That Is Being Done in This City by the Federation of Churches. The fourth annual report of the Federation f Churches and Christian Workers in New York city was made public yesterday. The Federation has made great progress during the last year particularly in Brooklyn. The Executive Committee has representatives in its membership from thirteen of the religious

The work of the Federation is thus defined in its report: (a) To assist the assignment, through the cooperation of churches, organized into local sub-federations, of every block of New special parish, for the cooperative discovery | said: and recovery of out of church families; (b) to bring to bear upon the area assigned each church its concentrated strength, for the enforcement of law and enrichment of life; (e) to cement the churches of a sub-lederation locality for social services demanded by the | pine Islands locality, but beyond the resources or duty of an individual church; (d) to evolve the cooperacanvass. A directory was made that included 10,397 families. The canvass seemed to show that 5,376 of these families did not go to any church and that 1,363 of them were Protestant, 1,783 Roman Catholic, 1,628 Hebrew and only two Greek and Buddhist. Each denomination in the district received a complete list of all the communicants in its denomination that had been discovered through the census.

The great difficulty with which the Federation has met so far is the moving habit. Only 63 per cent, of the families in this berough own the houses they live in. The Federation estimates that in such districts as the Fourteenth, which roughly speaking, is included between Third avenue, Eighth street, Fourteenth street and the East River, half of the population moves every two years. When the census has once been made it requires to teenth street and the East River, haif of the population moves every two years. When the census has once been made it requires to be kept in thorough repair. The returns of the canvassers are kept secret. They are in fact made secretly. The canvassers punch holes in a card which is to receive the data for the family which is being visited. The punch takes out the printed symbol which applies to the case in hand, and after the card has been completed only one who has a key to the parts that have been taken out can read the card. The Federation has an electric counting machine that tabulates all these holes in the cards.

machine that tabulates all these holes in the cards.

Part of the work of the Federation is to apportion the parts of the district to particular churches for the work of reviving religious life generally. Where more than half of the people in the district are not Christians, there is the utmost opportunity for evangelizing work. Each church in the district has a certain part of this unattached population assigned to it to be labored with. Each church has a district geographically near it for this work. As the plan of the Federation is carried out, there will be a complete social improvement system in every district with specialists in every sort of endeavor.

The work has been extended from the Fourteenth Assembly district to the Twenty-first Assembly district to the Twenty-first Assembly district, where the canvassing has been done and the results have been put in the hands of the printer and a nationality list has been made. Sub-federations have been organized to prepare the way for more complete work in the Twenty-fifth. Twenty-seventh. Twenty-ninth districts and in The Bronx. These auxiliaries are permanent bodies in which the workers for all the churches in the district meet and exchange experiences and advice and do what they can to relieve each other's difficulties. In Brooklyn a canvass has been made of 11,958 families in the Twenty-seventh ward and the tabulation work is being carried forward rapidly. It is calculated that 50,000 families have been affected by the work of the Federation. The council of the Federation expresses the opinion in concluding its report that its plan is the nearest approach yet to bractical Christian unity.

COLOMBIA NOT SERIOUS NOW.

President Castro Promises Minister Loomis Operation-Plan to Refund the Debt. CARACAS, Venezuela, March 6.-The relations between Colombia and Venezuela, which were thought by many to be dangerously strained a week ago, are more pacific to-day. Some of the Colombian officials thought that President Castro was in close sympathy with the revolutionary party in Colombia and it was charged that the Venezuelan Government was permitting the landing of arms in its ports for the Colombian revolutionists. Many charges were made by Colombians against Castro, but none f them has been proved. However, it cannot be denied that relations are not quite pleasant and that there are a number of irresponsible persons who would like to bring about a conflict between the two countries. The report emanating from Washington and published in THE SUN to the effect that Germany desires to obtain possession of the island of Margarita as satisfaction for her claims against Venezuela has excited a great deal of interest and comment in Caracas and throughout Venezuela.
